Taking the Wheel: Customizing GALILEO at Your Institution

Thursday, June 16 1:00-1:50 PM

For years, library staff have wanted more flexibility to customize their institution's GALILEO portal page. As part of the GALILEO redesign, we are committed to continuously adding and improving features the library may control. Join Mike White, GALILEO Support Services, for an overview of how GALILEO Admin can be used to customize the new bento box search, add featured resources to the "In the Spotlight" area of your portal page, add institution specific links and information about your library, and even more powerful GALILEO Admin features.

Armstrong Calculus

Tiemeyer, Michael; Schlieper, Jared

Authors' Description: An open-source textbook for calculus. The text is mostly an adaptation of two other excellent open- source calculus textbooks: Active Calculus by Dr. Matt Boelkins of Grand Valley State University and Drs. Gregory Hartman, Brian Heinold, Troy Siemers, Dimplekumar Chalishajar, and Jennifer Bowen of the Virginia Military Institute and Mount Saint Mary's University. Both of these texts can be found at <http://aimath.org/textbooks/approved-textbooks/>. The authors of this text have combined sections, examples, and exercises from the above two texts along with some of their own content to generate this text. The impetus for the creation of this text was to adopt an open-source textbook for Calculus while maintaining the typical schedule and content of the calculus sequence at our home institution. Accessible files with optical character recognition (OCR) and auto-tagging provided by the Center for Inclusive Design and Innovation.
