GALILEO is Georgia's premier competitive knowledge resource for research, business, K-12 curriculum support, career tools, consumer information, health, and much more.

GALILEO provides cost-effective, reliable, and trustworthy information that is not available for free through Google and other search engines.

GALILEO features best-of-breed tools for simultaneous searching of multiple databases and discovery of electronic journals.

GALILEO is available in over 2000 institutions throughout Georgia, including University System of Georgia institutions, participating private academic colleges and universities, technical colleges, public K-12 schools, many private K-12 schools, and every public library in the state.

GALILEO is accessible 24/7 from any computer or mobile device and is available automatically on campus or in the library. GALILEO passwords for remote access change three times a year. Some Institutions also may have single sign-on authentication.

GALILEO is funded by the governor and the General Assembly of Georgia for Georgia residents (since 1995).
