

The Atlanta Historic Newspapers Archive provides online access to fourteen newspaper titles published in Atlanta from 1847 to 1922. Consisting of over 67,000 newspaper pages, the archive provides historical images that are both full-text searchable and can be browsed by date. The site will provide users with a record of Atlanta's history from its origins as a railroad terminus, through the devastation of the Civil War, to its eventual growth into one of the nation's largest cities.

The archive includes the following titles:

- Atlanta Daily Examiner, 1857
- Atlanta Daily Herald, 1873-1876
- Atlanta Georgian, 1906-1911
- Atlanta Intelligencer, 1851, 1854-1871
- Atlantian, 1911-1922
- Daily/Georgia Weekly Opinion, 1867-1868
- Gate-City Guardian, 1861
- Georgia Literary & Temperance Crusader, 1860-1861
- New Era, 1869-1872
- Southern Confederacy, 1861-1864
- Southern Miscellany, & Upper Georgia Whig, 1847
- Southern World, 1882-1885
- Sunny South, 1875-1907
- Weekly Constitution, 1869-1882

GEORGIA HISTORIC NEWSPAPERS: Atlanta

Home About Help

Welcome to the Atlanta Historic Newspapers Archive

Search

Search newspapers for return pages with any of these words

Don't show results with

Terms must be within words of each other

Limit by year

Limit by title

Search Tips

Browse

Read issues by title/year

Read issues by year/title

Other newspapers available through the Digital Library of Georgia

GALILEO Express Link:
<http://www.galileo.usg.edu/express?link=atln>

DLG URL:
<http://dlg.galileo.usg.edu/atlnewspapers>

Search results for "Georgia Marble Company"

- Other sample searches:
 capitol (or capital) (in 1868)
 Joel Chandler Harris
 General Sherman
 Atlanta Spirit
 Cotton Exposition
 millinery
 sports electricity transportation

Search: georgia and marble and company in the full text
 Results: 51 Item(s)
 Sorted by: relevance
 Page: 1 2 3 Next Modify Search Begin New Search

Item	Relevance
1 Title: Atlanta Georgian and News, Dec. 24, 1909 -- page 71 Matches: 3 matches on this page	100%
2 Title: Atlanta Georgian and News, Dec. 24, 1909 -- page 70 Matches: 3 matches on this page	90%
3 Title: Atlanta Georgian and News, Dec. 24, 1909 -- page 10 Matches: 3 matches on this page	66%
4 Title: Weekly Constitution, Jul. 29, 1884 -- page 2 Matches: 5 matches on this page	60%
5 Title: Atlanta Georgian and News, Feb. 22, 1909 -- page 22 Matches: 2 matches on this page	59%
6 Title: Weekly Constitution, Oct. 7, 1884 -- page 2 Matches: 2 matches on this page	41%
7 Title: Sunny South, Nov. 8, 1884 -- page 7 Matches: 1 match on this page	39%
8 Title: Atlanta Georgian and News, Dec. 30, 1909 -- page 11 Matches: 1 match on this page	38%
9 Title: Atlanta Constitution, Nov. 9, 1886 -- page 12 Matches: 3 matches on this page	37%

GEORGIA MARBLE=SUPERIOR THE GEORGIA MARBLE

TUCKED away in the heart of old Georgia, south of her wild northern mountains and imbedded deep in her soil is a wonderful stone. It is over sixty miles long from two to three miles wide, and from one hundred and fifty to two hundred feet deep. Of course it is not an ordinary stone, but it is a simple formation of marble, and that of the finest quality from which the most magnificent buildings are made.

In a contained space of this marble to build comfortable dwellings for all the people in the world. Some that are the finest in the world, and that are grouped when we know that only 200,000 cubic feet of stone are needed to build the greatest skyscraper in the world, the Metropolitan Building in New York City, and that this wonderful deposit in Georgia contains enough marble to build 250,000 skyscrapers similar to that one.

This enormous formation is only one, the largest one, in an area containing inexhaustible marble deposits. Quantity and quality both considered, these deposits are by far the richest in the world, and if Georgia were without other resources, these great deposits alone would place her among the states to whom the intelligent development of their natural resources means a warrant of future economic prosperity.

Just a little more than a half century ago this unused wealth hid hidden in the soil of old Georgia was practically ignored. In 1850 Col. Sam Tate acquired the title to the greater part of the valuable marble fields of Pickens county and established the firm of Tate, Atkinson & Co., thereby laying the foundation to the present marble industry of the State.

The industry of the pioneer company in that day was primitive to a degree compared with that of today. It was limited to the manufacture of monuments and subjected to the difficulties of hand labor and inefficient transportation. But Col. Tate was the father of the industry in the state, and to him belongs the honor of laying the foundation, by his wisdom and foresight, for its development, with its wonderful present and still more wonderful future.

The Georgia Marble Company, which controls the greater part of this enormous industry today, was formed in 1884. Col. Sam Tate, grandson of the founder of the original marble company, is now the president, and Tate, Ga., is the center of its activity. Around this center, within a mile two and one-half miles long and less than a mile wide,

